

The Octagon club meets weekly on campus and communicates ideas for community service directly to its members. The application packet is the same whether or not students join Octagon, but the advisors facilitate the process for club members.